Twin Brook Capital Partners

Twin Brook Capital Partners, the mid-market direct lending subsidiary of Angelo Gordon, turned four this year. It has a lot to show for a young firm. In 2018, it grew its headcount from 42 employees to 56 and committed $3.9 billion to lower mid-market companies.

"2018 was an interesting year in that the volume of transactions we reviewed with our private equity partners was up considerably over 2017, and yet the number of transactions that the private equity groups or we passed on was also up," said Trevor Clark, a managing partner.

The firm maintains its focus on companies with EBITDA under $25 million, with the average EBITDA for the transactions closed in 2018 at $17.6 million, he added. The firm is starting 2019 with a bang, with the upcoming close of its largest fund to date, AG Direct Lending Fund III which has now raised over $3 billion.
